Education & Background

Growing up in New York City, I developed a deep appreciation for public art. My own art creations aim to seamlessly blend with their surroundings, becoming integral parts of the environment. In addition to my public art endeavors, I also express my creativity through oil painting.

For me, art is a celebration of life. This perspective informs much of my work, which draws inspiration from my travels and experiences in various foreign lands, including Thailand, Vietnam, and Cuba. My artistic themes often revolve around the concepts of energy, motion, sound, color, and texture. Through my art, I aspire to awaken a sensory response in viewers, compelling them to feel a connection with my paintings and even to become immersed in them.
